There does not seem to be any comfort in store for the democrats in Ohio.

Within the last fifteen months over one thousand decrees of divorce have been granted in St. Louis.

The winning platform in 1884 will be the one that declares in favor of judiciously protecting American industries.

The elements are doing some bad work on the Missouri and the Mississippi rivers. They are overflowing and are spreading desolation and ruin.

It will do no good to have another star route trial. So long as Ingersoll can make the jury believe there is no hell, they will accept the bribes and acquit the thieves.

To read the democratic papers one would suppose that Mr. Tilden is a one-minute trotter in politics. The only way to try his speed would be to put him on the track in 1884.

Governor Butler will be at the Harvard commencement. The overseers hoped he would decline the invitation, but the governor had the laugh on his side and he was bound to keep it there.

More unfavorable reports come from Bloomington, the home of Marie Litta. On Saturday her condition was very much worse, and her physicians regarded her recovery as somewhat doubtful.

The game McGeoch tried to play in the lard market, is now being played on him by his creditors. They are trying to corner him, but he is making a desperate fight, and may not fall into their clutches.

It is rumored that Mr. Dorsey has threatened to sue all the papers that have called him a star route swindler. If his purposes are carried out he will have to sue some 8,500 newspapers, as fully that many have been telling the truth about him.

The republican county conventions in Iowa are generally declaring for prohibition. Fifty-nine of them have adopted resolutions strongly favoring a re-submission of the prohibition question to the people.

E. M. Gifford and G. W. Peckham have been making investigations of the temperature of Wisconsin lakes. They found a bottom temperature at eighty feet or 72 degees Fahrenheit through the summer, and 32 degrees, or lower during the winter.

The Madison Democrat says: "The remark is made by some careful observer that a protective tariff plank in the republican national platform will take two or three western states out of the republican column." The remark may be made very timely, that a free trade plank in the democratic national platform will take two or three eastern states out of the democratic column and New York and New Jersey will be among them.

A prominent writer in Washington says that Mr. Blaine is the strongest and most popular man with the people to-day. He says he is informed that Mr. Blaine has been taking stock of his political strength lately, with a view of getting his resources well in hand by the time the spring of 1884 arrives. This may be all bosh, and very likely is, as Mr. Blaine has put himself on record as saying that he would not be a candidate in 1884 and for no other office.

Mr. Ker, one of the counsel for the government, said in a public manner that it was almost impossible to convict any man charged with stealing from the government, however heinous the crime or strong the evidence. At this remark the Washington newspapers are indignant to think that Mr. Ker would speak disparagingly of Washington morals and Washington juries. The charge is no doubt galling, but it is true, nevertheless, as past experience clearly proves. Look at the history of government trials and congressional investigations. It seemed as if it did not make any difference whether the thieves have been "on trial in congress or by investigating committees, civil courts or court-martial, the same dull monotony of sympathy or indifference has been manifested, until it has come to be expected in Washington that a man shall steal from the government when he gets a chance."

A dispatch from Madison to the Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph says that a prominent lawyer of this state who attended the University exercises the past week, made the statement that a movement was on foot to nullify by legislation the decision of the supreme court in relation to libel. He reports that the next legislature will be asked to enact a law of libel covering the views of the conservative lawyers on the subject, hold all publishers responsible in pecuniary damages for libels written by reporters and employes, whether such publisher knew anything in regard to the libellous article or not, and even if he had disavowed the publication and made all the reparation in his power.

The Sunday Telegraph further says: "There has been a constant struggle for twenty years past, by newspaper publishers to procure the modification of the old law of libel so that it should cover substantially the ground covered by the decision of the supreme court. But the lawyers in the legislature have always succeeded in defeating these efforts. Of course, lawyers are opposed to circumscribing the limits of litigation by abolishing causes for lawsuits, and they were always arrayed unanimously against any amelioration of the statutes relating to libel. The supreme court commenced and finished this reform in one decision. The lawyers will not probably, be as successful in restoring the old abuse and injustice as they were in preventing its removal. Newspaper publishers should, however be on the lookout for the attempt which will be made."

THE TORRENT'S TRIUMPH

American Bottom, Illinois, Deluged and Desolated.

Madison Levee Succumbs to the Rushing River and the Floods Come Down

On Eighty Thousand Acres of Farming Land---Ruined Crops and Homeless People---Situation Elsewhere.

ALTON, Ill., June 25.—The long-expected break in the Madison levee, ten miles below here, occurred at 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning. For a week the levee has been guarded by a force of men between 200 and 300 in number, who have worked night and day in raising and strengthening the levee, which is built entirely of dirt, and was completed only about four months ago. It is twenty-two miles in length, and protects the entire bottom between Wood river, four miles below here, and East St. Louis, a tract about sixteen miles long and six miles wide, embracing some of the most fertile and productive soil in Illinois. The gradual encroachment of the water has given rise to great alarm for two weeks. This is probably the most exposed point along the entire length of the Mississippi river. The mouth of the Missouri is directly opposite these low lands, and that stream has poured a great volume of water against the frail levee which was built by the money and the labor of the farmers whom it was intended to protect. The pressure of the combined waters of the two rivers has been terrific, and only unceasing exertion has postponed the great disaster which has from the first been seen to be inevitable if the rise continued. The river touched a mark one inch above the high-water mark of the great flood of two years ago. The water was within three inches of the top of the levee, and in many places was coming through it. Trains were run along the Chicago & Alton railroad to this city and loaded with stone and sand, which were taken to points on the bottom and hauled to the levee, where they were placed to the best advantage. Nearly five thousand bags of sand were placed on top of the levee, and the stone was laid along its river front. This work was carried on along the entire frontage under the direction of the three levee commissioners until midnight. Then it was seen that a great flood was coming out of the Missouri, and that the water was rising over the levee fast. About 5 o'clock a heavy rain came, which added to the probability of disaster, and many of the men went home to prepare their household goods and the live stock of flight. Others remained. The break occured. The water came in slowly at first, but gathered force. It made a break in the levee near Mitchell 350 feet long, and, sweeping away the earthwork like so much straw, it rushed in a great and high torrent into the the bottom. It traveled fast, taking a southeast course down toward Long Lake, an arm of the Mississippi. The body of water was at least fifteen feet high at the start, and looked like a cyclone as it moved on. The topography of the country was completely wiped out. Roads were washed out, rail fences were taken up and floated away, the tops of the smaller houses were completely covered, and in some cases the houses themselves were carried off. There was a general rout and panic among the people, who were flying toward the bluff and higher ground farther back from the river. Many head of live stock were drowned which could not be saved in the hurry and confusion. The waves swept toward Nameokio and Venice, two small villages located at the lower end of the bottoms. The most fertile farms in the valley were covered out of sight. They were in a high state of cultivation, large crops of hay, wheat, corn, oats and potatoes growing in the fields. The area covered by the waters embraces about 80,000 acres, and the value of the crops upon it cannot be less than $600,000 or $700,000. That is a low estimate to place upon it. It may reach $1,000,000. It means absolute ruin to the majority of the farmers upon whom the blow has fallen, who had but poor crops last year, and who are in debt for this year's crop. Most of the farmers in the bottom are small holders, owning from twenty to 100 acres of well-tilled land, which supply the St. Louis markets. These are all out of sight. The larger farms, such as the Sippy estate, the Atkins estate, and landed properties belonging to Dr. Irish and the Irwin family are all under water. It is one vast sea of water from Madison, where the break occurred, to East St. Louis. Hundreds of people are without homes and means of subsistence, and must be the beneficiaries of charity for some time to come. The railroad property in the bottom suffered greatly. Only one road, the Indianapolis & St. Louis, is now open from Venice to East St. Louis. It is claimed by competent engineers that the Mississippi and Missouri rivers are cutting out a new channel through the American bottom, and that the future course of the Mississippi will be east of St. Louis.

SITUATION AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—The great bridge has been crowded with people bent on seeing the flood. From the middle pier a bird's-eye view of the terrible ravages being done by the flood is obtainable. Upon this side the water covers the levee and reaches into the first story of the buildings. The cellars have long ago been covered with water, but it is upon the other side that the damage is easiest seen. In Venice, just above St. Louis, forty-five dwellings, two elevators, and five shops are surrounded by water—twenty dwellings so deep in the water as to be uninhabitable, and the families have to take shelter in empty freight cars standing on a side track above the water. Several of the buildings are in water up to the eaves, and appear to be gradually canting over from their foundations, owing to the pressure of the waves surging against them. The water has reached to the west side of Main street, in the center of the village, and crossed the street in three narrow channels a hundred yards apart. At both ends and at two places of Main street small earthworks dams two feet high and three feet broad were hurriedly constructed, and a gang of men are now busy strengthening these dams so as to prevent, if possible, the water surrounding the buildings on the east side of Main street, where most of the principal stores and largest dwellings are situated. East of Main street is the high embankment of the Chicago and Alton railroad, and between this embankment and the street are fifty buildings, which would be greatly damaged if the water gets across Main street. If the river at this point should raise ten inches more all of Venice west of the Chicago and Alton main track would be flooded, and in this section are located all the stores, hotels, and factories. At Brooklyn at midnight the people were forced to leave their homes. At this time, in fact, a general hegira occurred. Bed clothing and cooking utensils were bundled up, and broad shoulders were soon burdened with every description of household traps. Many of the articles were of no service, but in the first panic needed goods were forgotten, and in the exodus a lot of useless rubbish was removed to a place of safety.

The refugees took shelter in a train of empty box-cars standing on a siding of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and after taking in the situation they settled down to enjoy themselves. Twelve families of a religious inclination returned to the church and organized their households on the community plan. The school-house was raided by a flock of twenty families, and after their agitation subsided they selected the safest spots on the unyielding plank floor and arranged their beds with a supply of mattresses and quilts that were snatched up in a hurry. These extemporized couches also did duty for chairs and tables until stray pieces of furniture were rescued from the flood. The attributes of modesty and delicacy were lost in the subsequent struggles. In Brooklyn by noon to-day some seventy houses were buried roof-deep in water. The situation at East Carondelet is deplorable in the extreme. More than three-fourths of the families in town have taken refuge upon a high ridge along the St. Louis & Cairo railroad, the three school-houses being occupied by fugitives from the swelling waters, which cover the entire village except an elevated point embracing the residences of Victor Sherman, Johnson Sinclair, and a half-dozen colored families, and another strip one block west of the narrow-gauge track, containing about ten houses, into which the people have crowded for shelter. Nearly all the inhabitants were depending upon their gardens for a living, and the destruction of those has left them destitute. Unless assistance is rendered them from without, there will be great suffering among the poorer classes, which comprise the majority of the population. The destruction of wheat and other crops in the country surrounding is complete. At the lowest estimate, ten thousand acres of wheat alone now stand from one to six feet under water, while the acreage of corn and potatoes is about equal to that of wheat, making in all not less than twenty-thousand acres of promising crops utterly destroyed, rendering the owners absolutely penniless. From East Carondelet to the bluffs, a mean distance of three miles, and from East St. Louis to a distance of ten miles below Carondelet and Columbia turnpike, the whole face of the country presents one continuous scene of desolation and ruin. Had the waters held off for two weeks longer, the farmers could have saved a large percentage of their wheat and early potatoes, the wheat at the time of the inundation being almost ready for the reaper. Nine-tenths of the sufferes are badly in debt, and the loss of their crops, upon which they depended to pay for their teams and the provisions they have purchased on credit while making their crops, will leave these people in a pitiable condition. To add to their immediate distress, their creditors from Belleville, from whom the majority of the renters purchased their teams, learning of the misfortunes of these poor fellows, are rushing in with cut-throat mortgages and wresting from them their horses and mules, leaving them without a cent in the world to go upon. At Cahokia the waters cover the entire town. The people spend their leisure hours in boating along the streets. Cahokia island is several feet under water. The new grade of the St. Louis & Cairo railroad, running from East St. Louis to South Junction, a distance of five miles, is threatened. There are several serious washouts, and it is more than probable that the rising floods which surge against it will destroy at least half of it in spite of the efforts of the company to save it.

ALARM AT KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25.—The condition of the Missouri and Kansas rivers is again becoming alarming. The Kansas river rose three and a half inches yesterday, and the Missouri river rose seven inches. This rise is wholly attributable to local rains and has nothing to do with the freshets in the mountain tributaries of the Missouri. There is no change in the situation here, but widespread alarm is again beginning to be manifest. A dispatch to the mayor dated at Yankton says the river rose three and a half feet at Fort Randall yesterday. This is undoubtedly the June rise, and is reported as such. The snow in the mountains is very heavy, and the country along the upper Missouri is already being flooded. It will only take eight or nine days for this rise to reach here at the present stage of the river. A cessation of local rains and a speedy subsiding of the present flood before this rise gets here is the only hope for Kansas City. The rivers are bank-full, and two feet more will flood West Kansas City. Eastern trains left on time last night.

DORSEY'S CAMPAIGN.

The Ex-Senator Proposes to Let off Some More Dynamite.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—During the recent star-route trial it was stated that ex-Senator Dorsey would print certain documents and letters in his possession relative to the Garfield presidential election and the formation of the Garfield cabinet. This correspondence is alleged to be of a sensational character. A good deal of this sensation has been heavily discounted. It is known, here, however, that Dorsey is now being negotiated with by a New York paper, and that all the writings relative to the celebrated Garfield-Conkling compact will be reproduced in the columns of the journal that published the Dorsey letter. Dorsey has held these papers secretly until now, when he feels that he owes nothing to the party that has rewarded him with disgrace. Ex-Senator Dorsey proposes, after he has damaged the Republican party as much as possible by disclosing some secret history, to transfer himself, troop and baggage to the Democracy, and help them in the next presidential campaign. He has an idea that he will be able to control a large negro following by preaching to them his services in the Garfield contest, and that he will try to show that his prosecution for star-route frauds was the result of a conspiracy among the dead president's enemies.

SPORT ON LAND AND WATER.

Opening of the Chicago Race Meeting--Regatta at Pullman.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The summer meeting at the Chicago driving park opened Saturday last with good weather, fine track, large attendance and an excellent programme. There were five races, all for running horses. First race, Inaugural Rush, all ages, one mile, taken by Slocum in 1:40¾. Ladies' stakes, two-year-old fillies, ¾ mile; Mona won in 1:19. Board of Trade handicap, 1¼ miles, won by Harry Gilmore, in 2:45. Fourth race, Criterion stakes, two-year-old colts, ¾ mile, Harding first in 1:18¾. Three-fourth mile heats for all ages, Rona; best time 1:19.

PULLMAN REGATTA.

In the double-scull race at Pullman Saturday Hanlon and Lee were the victors, making the mile in 19 minutes and 37 seconds. Teemer, only 18 years of age, won the consolation purse, rowing three miles in 20 minutes and 14 seconds, beating the record of Courtney.

IROQUOIS ABROAD.

Chicago Braves in New York and What They are After--Senator Allison on Ohio and Iowa.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Two braves of the far-famed Chicago Iroquois club, begrimed with dust and cinders, have arrived in the city and taken quarters at the Windsor hotel. They registered as Erskine M. Phelps and Frank G. Hoyne. Mr. Phelps is the president and Mr. Hoyne is the recording secretary of the club. The two warriors are youthful in appearance, Mr. Phelps being about 37 years of age and the senior of his associate about five years. They are becomingly modest, and regretted that so much publicity should be given their movement. "I come to New York every sixty days in the year," said the president, "and am here on business as usual. This announcement that we had come east to arrange for holding the national Democratic convention in Chicago is premature. We may see some of the eastern people about the matter while we are here, but that isn't the special object of our trip. Chicago is a good enough place in which to hold a convention. We've got lots of hotel-room, and we can accommodate you all."

Mr. Phelps was reminded that a counter movement was on foot among eastern Democrats to have Saratoga the place for holding the convention.

"That's because of the waters, I suppose, which many people do associate with Democrats," he replied, with a laugh. Mr. Phelps admitted that a committee of five, comprising himself and Mr. Hoyne, S. Corning Judd, the Hon. Thomas Hoyne and W. C. Goudy, a member of the national Democratic committee, had been appointed by the Iroquois to urge upon prominent members of the Democratic party the advisability of selecting Chicago for the next convention. The Iroquois club appears, from the statements of those two members, to possess certain sympathies and prejudices upon the subject of nominees for president and speakership. Mr. McDonald, they say, made a very favorable impression on the club. Mr. Randall, for speaker of the next house, was a subject which aroused their ire. Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, was the favorite of the club for this office. To Mr. Randall they were politically opposed. There was altogether too much of the odor of protection about his garments to please their free-trade nostrils.

It is suspected that a crusade against the Pennsylvania congressman is one of the objects of this eastern visit of the Iroquois members, for they bring copies of a circular which the club will furnish to every Democratic congressman in the country, which recites the resolution of the club passed at its June meeting, which declares that the members believe that the welfare of the country demands a change of control from Republican to Democratic hands. The circular then goes on to say that the selection of any other than a sincere revenue reformer as speaker of the next national house of representatives would be regarded by the club as a great misfortune to the party, and a national calamity.

Curiously enough, Mr. William L. Scott, the Pennsylvania member of the Democratic national committee, was in the city to-night. He was astonished (apparently) to learn that the Iroquois men had wondered so far east. He had held no communication with them, knew not whether their intentions were honorable or otherwise, or whether he was likely to meet them at all. As for himself, he had simply run over on business. If any Iroquois men wanted him they would be compelled to seek him. Mr. Scott, before leaving the Fifth Avenue hotel, anxiously inquired if anybody had "seen Old Barnum round," meaning thereby William H. Barnum, of Connecticut, chairman of the Democratic national committee. Mr. Barnum was not registered at any of the hotels last night. Mr. Abram S. Hewitt, the New York member of the national committee, left his Burling Slip office in the afternoon to join his family in Greenwood, N. J. The Iroquois braves will meet some of the Tammany Hall schemers before they return to their western homes.

ALLISON ON OHIO AND IOWA.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Senator W. B. Allison, of Iowa, being in the city, a reporter called upon him at the Grand Pacific, and asked him what he thought of the action of the Ohio Democratic convention. "Well," said he, "I am not very familiar with Ohio politics, but this I do know: that the Republicans have got to carry the state this year if we wish to go into the presidential election with good prospects.

"The platform has amused me very much. I have been trying to decipher the tariff plank, and have come to the conclusion that it means nothing in particular and was framed to suit everybody. You can construe it any way you wish. It indicates very clearly to my mind that the Democratic party will dodge that issue next year, and that the national campaign of 1884 will not be fought on the tariff question. I say this because I see the Democratic press of the country, even Watterson's organ, indorses the platform, as one upon which the party can stand. Hence a duplicate will no doubt be reproduced next year for the national party to stand upon."

"What are the Republicans of Iowa going to do next week?"

"We are going to nominate a ticket that will be elected as a matter of course. The convention promises to be largely attended and though it may be warm, there will be no breach."

"And you are going to pronounce for prohibition?"

"There will be something done very probably in that direction. How far it will go I can't say. We have now on our statute book a law against the sale of spirituous liquor, from which beer and wine are exempted. This is enforced in some localities and not in others. What the Prohibitionists want is a legislative enactment removing the exemption from beer and wine and putting them in the same category with whisky. Their argument is that, as the constitutional amendment calling for prohibition was adopted by the people, the legislature ought to ratify the people's will. The only real fight will come up over the nomination of Supreme judge. Day has several competitors, and his connection with the decision overthrowing the amendment will make him to some extent a target, while on the other hand he has many warm friends who will exert every effort to vindicate him. I shall be at the convention, though not as a delegate."

"Will the tariff question cut any figure in the canvass?"

"I think not. The Democrats would not have made the issue if they had not been making a hopeless fight. Their attitude against protection means nothing for that reason, in view of their course in Ohio. They may gain some votes out of the liquor question but not out of the tariff."

Gould's "Atalanta."

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Jay Gould and a few friends took possession of the magnificent yacht Atalanta, which has cost nearly $250,000. They started down the Delaware, under the guidance of Capt. Shackford. The yacht has a 1,000 horse-power engine, and can make 17 knots per hour.

FOREIGN SUMMARY.

Coming Break-ups in English Politics --The Franco-Chinese Trouble and Bismarck--Queen and Prince.

That Rascally Khedive--British Duplicity--Alfonso's Naughtiness --Channel Tunnel--Yellow Fever in Paris.

NEW YORK, June 24.—A cable dispatch from London says: This has been an eventful week, both at home and abroad: Everything points to a speedy break-up of the Liberal party. At the cabinet meeting the question was considered whether, having regard to the paralysis of business in parliament, the government should at once dissolve and appeal to the country. Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Charles Dilke advised against dissolution, and suggested that the parliamentary session be prolonged until the necessary bills be passed. The policy of the obstructives continues to triumph. Mr. Parnell, backed by a working association of Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Gorst, together with other members of the fourth party, has succeeded in forcing the attorney general to drop the criminal code bill, which was regarded as one of the most useful measures of home legislation introduced this year. They have also compelled the government to amend the corrupt practices bill to the liking of the Irish members. The breach between the Whig and Radical sections of the government supporters is rapidly widening, and throwing more and more power into the hands of the Irish party. Another serious source of division is the native India jurisdiction bill. This has divided not only the party but the cabinet. Lord Rosebery was offered the viceroyalty of India in succession to Lord Ripon, but declined except upon the condition that the bill be abandoned. Mr. Gladstone is in favor of the measure, and will support Lord Ripon's view heartily. The earl of Ripon is to be made a duke on his return to England, in recognition of his great services to India.

Another evidence of the break of the alliance between the old whigs, and the radicals is furnished by the serious split which has taken place in the Cobden club. Lord Ampthill, Lord Arthur Russell, Lord Moreton, and Mr. Goshen have left the club on account of the admission of Mr. Clemenceau, the most eminent of the French radicals. Mr. Goshen declares privately that the club is not only degenerating but entirely altering its character. Instead of being the representative of free trade, it is becoming the exponent of socialist and Republican principles.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S ILLNESS.

Queer reports concerning Prince Bismarck's illness and its causes come from Berlin, and from Paris as well. The French papers say plainly: "He is sick over the Tonquin affair," and the failure of the underhanded schemes to make for France what might have been almost insurmountable troubles with China. The French papers and French diplomats here say freely that all of France's annoyances abroad are instigated and fostered by the chancellor. The German correspondents say, as was done in a letter by one of the best of them, M. Jaini, what the German press knows and cannot say, that every appearance of success on the part of France, when he is ill, throws him into a rage, and argue from that that his anger is caused by defeat and disease.

The future meeting at Gastein with the emperor of Austria, and possibly with King Humbert, is counted as part of the programme. While the triple alliance is a fact, there are many details unarranged which may yet defeat its purpose. In this Bismarck has intended to be the controlling party. These diplomatic annoyances cause actual physical trouble, and death from apoplexy at any time would not be a surprise to any one familiar with the facts.

England's direct interference in the contest between France and China, and her offers to conciliate between the two nations, which were announced, and which the Marquis Tseng accepted and telegraphed to Pekin, have also been far from pleasing in Germany, since it seems to be an effort to interfere on both sides of the barricade which Bismarck has been attempting to erect across Europe from the Baltic to the Mediterranean. He has apparently made overtures to Russia, more or less direct, affecting England's display of interest in France by suggesting non-interference in Russia's efforts to counterbalance English power in the east. Germany would gladly ignore, in her present mood, Russia's occupancy of Armenia. Friendly treatment of Russia is also shown in unquestioned delivery of the accused Poles at Russia's first demand, although they are liberals of prominence, and guilty of nothing that could be a crime under the German laws.

THE ENGLISH QUEEN.

The queen has reached Windsor from Balmoral. The precautions along the railway route were much less than on the previous occasion. The public were admitted to several stations. Her majesty's condition continues to give her physicians great anxiety. It is stated to be one of mild melancholia. She refuses all exercise and declines to forsake the continued seclusion of her life. At the end of next month she will return to Balmoral and leave for Italy in the autumn.

ABOUT THE PRINCE OF WALES.

It is perfectly true that the prince of Wales is not one's ideal of a ruler of a great empire, and one could wish he might see fit to mend his ways in many matters, major and minor; yet, upon the whole, as the English say, "He is not a bad sort, after all." The prince has always been over self-indulgent, and his person is gross in consequence. He is an enormous eater and smoker. He has no tastes for literature or art, and is simply a pleasure-loving, easy-going man of society. Although he is getting very stout, though just past forty, he bears himself with such fine grace, is so erect in figure, and is always so perfectly dressed that one loses sight of his physical grossness. In political life the prince has never made a mistake, and is always on the right side of state questions. It is said he never writes his own speeches, but certainly he manages to deliver those that are written for him with charming ease and grace.

In society he is always a gentleman, and his personal dignity is equal to all the demands of his lofty position. Who will ever be able to explain why it is that certain persons in exalted stations in life choose to surround themselves with social loafers? We have known times in America when the White House was the rendezvous for a set of underbred swaggerers. The Prince of Wales has for comrades men and for favorites women with whom he ought not to have anything in common. To offset some of these unfortunate qualities of mind and habits of life, the prince is known to have a high standard for himself in all state and ceremonial affairs, and he tries faithfully to discharge the duties of his present anomalous position. He has to discharge all the social functions of a leader, and yet is denied all the political prerogatives of a ruler. His royal highness has traveled far and wide. He has the personal acquaintance of all the sovereigns and statesmen of Europe. He has a wider knowledge of men and affairs than any ruler who ever sat on a throne. He understands the different classes of English society thoroughly, from the highest to the lowest. Those who know the prince are unanimous in the happy prophecy that he will be the wisest and most popular ruler England has ever had.

The discussions of Suleiman Samis' abrupt taking off, and of the Khedive's complicity in the Alexandria massacre, have led to important admissions by the government that Arabi had absolutely nothing to do with the massacre or with the burning of Alexandria. Arabi was charged with both those acts, and the question will presently be in order, "Why is he kept in Ceylon?" Lord Randolph Churchill has published his correspondence with Gladstone, and will now formally lay the proof of the Khedive's guilt before the government, which has been well aware of it all along. The only new aspect which it puts on the Egyptian question is, that, in purely Oriental duplicity, the policy of the English government was not a bit behind that of the Porte or of the Khedive himself.

THE KING OF SPAIN.

The infidelities of the gay young king of Spain continue to be the general topic of discussion among the Spaniards. It is held that Queen Christina's German asceticism has suffered an incurable wound, and hereafter their Catholic majesties will live apart. Her majesty, they say, is a German bluestocking of the highest cultivation, a fine mechanical musician, a linguist, and perfectly amiable, but slightly arctic in temperament. Alfonso's favorite, on the contrary, is a Spanish beauty whose accomplishments are of a more spontaneous order. One thing appears to be quite assured, the young king will not be cured of his predictions, but means to be a merry monarch, and in the pursuit of his bent will have the approval of his people, who regard the present affair as the most agreeable joke they have had since the balmy days of Isabella. Senor Afano, editor of The Liberal, and member of the cortes, was the confidant of Queen Christina, and espoused her cause in his paper, and it is said that two friends of Alfonso, Duke de Tamanes and Count de Benalua, called on him and proposed to slice off his ears if he did not convert himself to different views. The material of romance is not yet extinct in old Castile.

THE JEWS.

The Jews everywhere in Europe are watching with painful interest the progress of the trial of the Jews who are accused of having murdered a young christian girl in order to obtain her blood for use in a religious ceremony. The evidence against the accused is unexpectedly strong, the principal witness being a fourteen-year-old son of the chief prisoner, Joseph Scharf. He detailed the manner of the crime, and how they held the victim so as to lose none of her blood.

CHANNEL TUNNEL.

Rumors are afloat that the majority of the channel tunnel committee will report in favor of the scheme. Mr. Bright's violent attack upon its opponents and unreasoning appeal in behalf of the tunnel meet with little response from the public, and contrasts unfavorably with carefully prepared argument against the scheme, like Lord Wolseley's. Testimony is now closed, but the only thing certainly known is that the committee is divided in opinion. It is probable that there will be majority and minority reports signed by nearly equal numbers.

CAREY.

Informer Carey left Dublin for the north of Ireland in disguise. Threatening letters have poured in upon him, some of which have reached him through his wife. His whereabouts are known only to the head police in Dublin. The government proposs sending him to some remote district of Canada.

THE LACE TRADE.

The queen's refusal to open the exhibition of Irish laces to be held in London next week has caused much adverse comment. The object of the exhibition is to promote the revival of the lace trade and a demand for the article. Not only the queen but the prince of Wales declined. The duchess of Connaught has agreed to open the exhibition.

LOUISE MICHEL.

PARIS, June 25.—Henri Rochefort, in his evidence at the trial of Louise Michel yesterday, endeavored to show the falsity of the charge of pillage against the prisoner. He said that when she was exiled she reduced herself to poverty to aid her fellow-sufferers.

The jury found Louise Michel guilty, and she was sentenced to six years' imprisonment and ten years' police supervision.

The prisoner spoke in her own defense. She violently attacked the government, and declared that the issue of pamphlets to soldiers inciting them to burn their barracks and murder their officers was justified. She also declared that the soldiers at Sedan would have done well to have shot their officers and thereby have saved the honor of France.

YELLOW-FEVER IN PARIS.

The official routine of the Quai d'Orsay was startled the other day by an alarming occurrence. Monsieur Lecompto, an attache of the ministry, was suddenly seized by a violent illness. The physicians at once declared it to be yellow-fever. It was said that M. Lecompte caught the disease by opening dispatches that had arrived from Brazil, where "Yellow-Jack" is now raging.

JOHN BROWN.

John Brown died intestate, and an inventory of his effects show that he left $800 cash in the bank. The inscription on the queen's monument in Craphie churchyard speaks of him as her "devoted, faithful, personal attendant, her beloved friend; that kind of friend on whose fidelity you count; that kind of friend given you by circumstances over which you have no control; a friend who was God's own gift."

The Evans Worry.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—One report having been published that the president is likely to remove Evans, inquiry was made among those likely to know, with the following result: Secretary Folger said: "If the president intends to get rid of Mr. Evans he has not signified his intention to me, and I am therefore unable to say as to the truth or falsity of the report." Another prominent official in the treasury department said: "I don't know if this report is true or not, but if the president has not decided to remove him he ought to do so at once. Evans is a failure." At the White House it was said the president is not in the habit of declaring his intentions and publishing them beforehand. He acts, and it is not known here that he has thought of removing Mr. Evans, who is scarcely warm in his seat, but it is safe to say that Evans has about reached the end of his string. "I understand," continued the speaker, "that he says he does not read the papers or care for their contents. If this is true, he should immediately alter his line of progress, buy a cuppy, and read them carefully."

Blaine Family Reunion.

SAVOY, Ill., June 25.—The well-known Blaine family of this section, cousins and other relatives of Hon. J. G. Blaine, of Maine, held the annual assembly and reunion here Saturday. Between 100 and 200 were in attendance. The family embraces some of the leading people of this county.

The only aromatic Ess. Jamaica Ginger in America is made by N. K. Brown, Burlington, Vt. "N. K's."

Why suffer longer from dyspepsia, indigestion, want of appetite, loss of strength, lack of energy, malaria, intermittent fevers, etc.? Brown's Iron Bitters never fail to cure these diseases. They act like a charm on the digestive organs, removing all dyspeptic symptoms, such as belching, heartburn, billiousness, etc. Remember it is the only iron preparation that will not blacken the teeth or give headache. Ask your druggists concerning its merit.

Rev. A. W. Whitney, Hingham, Wis., says: "After a long sickness from lung fever I used Brown's Iron Bitters and gained strength."

Salter Bros., druggists, at Colby, Wis., say: "Anyone once using Brown's Iron Bitters cannot be persuaded to use any other."

Charming features may be rendered actually repulsive by blotches or pimples. GLEN'S SULPHUR SOAP remedies all complexional blemishes.

Collision Between Two Steamers Off Portland, England----Twenty-Five Lives Lost.

LONDON, June 25.—The passenger vessels Hurunui and Waitara of the New Zealand Shipping company, were in collision off Portland Friday night. The Waitara sank in two minutes. Twenty-five persons were drowned. The Hurunui immediately launched boats and rescued sixteen persons struggling in the waters. Among these was a lady saloon passenger to whom a sailor also saved, had given his life belt. Two other saloon passengers were also saved. All second class and steerage passengers were lost. The captain of the Waitara was dragged aboard the Hurunui with the aid of ropes. The two vessels left London together on Friday. The Hurunui struck the Waitara end on, just in front of the saloon, starboard side. The survivors state no crash was heard, but the side of the Waitara gave way like cardboard. More passengers might have been saved had the bark and steamer seen near by heeded the Waitara's signals of distress. The Waitara was an iron ship of 833 tons. She was built in 1863. The Hurunui is also an iron ship.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Rioting against the Jews at St. Gall, Switzerland, has been resumed, troops dispersing the mob.

Republican conventions in fifty-nine counties of Iowa have declared for prohibition to the full extent.

The big organ of Boston is to be removed from Music Hall in May to a building especially erected for it.

President Arthur intends soon to leave Washington for three months. He desires to visit Newport, the Yellowstone park, the Louisville exposition, and take a trip over the Northern Pacific road.

The Dominion government has decided to stop granting land in the northwestern territory to colonization companies, the amount already conveyed being sufficient to test that method of settling the country.

The body of Charles T. Goodwin, the missing cashier of the Lake Shore freight-house at Cleveland, has been found near the breakwater in that city. It is now stated that he was $7,000 short in his cash.

The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the First Presbyterian church of Chicago will be celebrated with services lasting three days. Rev. Jeremiah Porter, the pioneer pastor, is expected to take part in the programme.

The official journal of Mexico states that the government has granted a concession to two citizens of St. Louis for the construction of two important lines of telegraph and railway, running through the richest section of the republic, with a cash subsidy of $7,000,000.

Judge Hoadley, who was nominated by the Ohio Democracy for governor, doesn't relish the statement that he left the convention in disgust and threatened to withdraw from the ticket. He desires it known that he will make as vigorous a campaign as his health will permit, and believes in a living Democracy.

Elmer Snyder, a farmer residing near Glen City, Pa., was recently surprised by a visit from a young man claiming to be his runaway son, who proves to have been a Chicago thief. The villain waited his time, and then robbed the old man of $8,500 in money and bonds.

During the past ten months 52,810 Canadians have emigrated into the United States. The attack made on the figures of the American bureau of statistics by Sir Alexander Galt caused Mr. Nimmo to make a special investigation, in which he found that he had rather understated the arrivals from over the border.

The intention of the senior Vanderbilt to retire from the presidencies of the Central and Lake Shore roads was not known even to his wife, his sons, or his attorney. After urging his best friends to purchase stocks in the family enterprises, he slipped the noose of responsibility from his neck and next day sailed for Europe. Gould and Sage were in the remote southwest, and it is stated that they were compelled to sustain Central at 120 and Lake Shore at 100 to avert disaster to their interests. They received some aid from W. K. Vanderbilt, who had ignorantly been engaged in buying stock placed on the market by his father.

Saw the President About It.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Alexander Sullivan and twenty other representative Irishmen waited upon President Arthur, and submitted facts showing that the British government is assisting inmates of poor-houses to emigrate to the United States. The delegation alleged that for this purpose £100,000 was voted by parliament, and that helpless poor people are arriving steadily on our shores. The president replied that the subject had already been under consideration by the secretary of state, and a thorough investigation would be made.

We believe that there is a large class of patent medicines whose ingredients are skillfully and conscientiously selected and compounded, and that they have been very useful in the domestic treatment of disease. We must come to this conclusion in precisely the same way that we come to the conclusion that a man is a skillful physician—by what they accomplish, and by the testimony of those who have used them. The reputa- of a patent medicine is sustained by exactly the same evidence that supports a skillful physician's reputation. * * * Many of those medicines came out of the regular practice, and were prepared and originally prescribed by the best physicians. * * * Very few of them, we believe are humbugs and frauds in the conscientiousness or the intent of their makers. * * * The people, who are necessarily the judges, both of doctors and of medicines, say that these medicines are not all frauds, and if human testimony is good for anything, that fact is established. —Scribner's Monthly.

LIVER

A FACT—Facts are established by testimony. The weight of the testimony is dependent upon the character of the witness. The following unimpeachable testimony pronounce Dow's Liver Cure a medicine of merit.

We, the undersigned, have used Dow's Liver Cure ourselves and in our families, for many of the diseases for which it is recommended, and we pronounce it the most reliable and efficient medicine yet introduced in this country, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all sufferers.

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER USE.

We will not attempt to enumerate what we have, nor to describe our stock further than to say that it consists of the best obtainable, in every department. We keep everything that is usually found in a first-class Hardware and Stove Store, and a few things besides, and have taken especial pains this spring to have everything up to the standard. In articles of different makes, such as

Stoves,
Ranges,
Household Implements and labor saving devices.
Axes,
Tools,
Farm Machinery,
Etc., Etc.

We have either arranged to give the purchaser his choice of all the varieties, or we have selected after careful comparison, what we consider to be the best. Everything in our stock has been chosen with particular reference to the want of this community and the surrounding country, and we want every purchaser to feel assured that in buying of us he is getting the greatest obtainable value for his money. Speaking of money brings us to the question of prices, and right here we must be pardoned if we do a little bragging. We do not claim to be smarter than the generality of men in a horse trade or sharper in a dog dicker, but when it comes to buying a stock of Hardware stores we know just what we are about. We have been enabled by our experience and certain advantages we possess—not the least of which is buying for SPOT CASH, to lay in our new spring stock of seasonable goods at figures which would astonish our competitors if they knew them, and will allow us to offer our patrons a benefit in the way of ROCK BOTTOM PRICES for TIP TOP GOODS, that we are sure will be appreciated.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER,

Has made Chronic Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to

The Polar Stream Off Newfoundland.

The report of the temperature of the Atlantic brought by the German steamer Katie recently is of special interest as showing the changes going on this season in the gulf stream and its opposing Arctic current. On the 25th of April, when about forty miles south of the southermost edge of the Newfoundland banks (latitude 42 degrees 26 minutes, longitude 50 degrees 26 minutes), this steamer passed several icebergs, finding the weather very cold and the temperature of the sea 32 degrees. This is an exceptionally low temperature of the water to be observed so far south almost at the close of April. Even allowing that it was partly due to the proximity of icebergs it seems to indicate that the glacial Labrador current is now protruding farther south than usual and crowding the gulf stream out of its wonted spring course. The enormous volume of polar ice-laden water flowing over the banks must exert a powerful influence both on the movement and the temperature of the stream against which it impinges, especially since the deep floating icebergs, as Dr. Carpenter points out, bring this influence to bear directly on the lower strata of the warm current. So great is the southward sweep of the heavy glacial current that when the buoy attached to the broken end of the Atlantic cable of 1865 got adrift it was found to have traveled (presumably by the action of the underflow on the long buoy rope suspended in it) nearly due south a distance of six hundred miles in seventy six days in opposition to the gulf stream. As a proof of the remarkable changes of the limits of the stream in various seasons Admiral Irminger states that "the warm waters between the Bermudas and Halifax in February 1820, had a width of 140 miles, but in may of the same year of 300 miles," while "in June 1847, they were in about the same place 146 miles across."

The expansion of the area of icy water off Newfoundland which explains the contradiction of the water current, has a marked influence on the weather over the banks. Cyclones in traversing the cold ocean have their humid winds so chilled that their vapor is more rapidly condensed, and hence the pressure in their centre is reduced and their intensity augmented. But the chief effect of the cold water area is, when swept by southwesterly winds saturated with moisture, to condense their vapor into dense fog, the seaman's chief foe. Lamont records a striking instance of the fog-producing power of cold water when yatching in the sunlit, glassy seas of Nova Zembla, he observed with the springing up of a southwest breeze the sudden formation of a dense fog. The dry winter winds on the Newfoundland banks are replaced this month by the moist southwest winds, and if (as the observations of the German steamer referred to and other recent records indicate) there is now an unusual extension of the polar stream, the coming summer may rival that of 1881 for fogs. It is to be earnestly hoped, therefore, that the crowded European steamships will this season give the banks a wide berth.—N. Y. Herald.

Getting Information Under Difficulties.

"I do not see any peculiarity about your people," said an Eastern Judge, addressing his traveling companion, a well known Arkansas lawyer. "I have traveled quite extensively in this State, and I have not, as yet, found that eccentricity of action and prevarication of reply that has often amused me in the newspapers."

"You have done most of your traveling by rail," the lawyer replied. "This is your first trip away from the main roads, is it not?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'll show you some of our genuine natives. Yonder is a house. Call the landlord and hold a conversation with him."

"Hallo!" called the Judge.

"Comin'!" the man replied, depositing a child in the doorway, and advancing.

"How's all the folks?"

"Children's hearty; wife's not well. Ain't what you might call bed-sick, but jest sorter stretchy."

"Got anything to eat in the house?"

"Ef I had it anywhar, I'd have it it in the house."

"How many children have you?"

"Many as I want."

"How many did you want?"

"Wa'n't hankerin' arter a powerful chance, but I'm satisfied."

"How long have you been living here?"

"Too long."

"How many years?"

"Been here ever since my oldest boy was born."

"What year was he born?"

"The year I come here."

"How old is your boy?"

"Ef he had lived, he would have been the oldest until yit; but, as he died, Jim's the oldest."

"How old is Jim?"

"He ain't as old as the one what died."

"Well, how old was the one that died?"

"He was older than Jim."

"What do you do here for a living?"

"Eat."

"How do you get anything to eat?"

"The best way we kin."

"How do you spend your Sundays?"

"Like the week days."

"How do you spend them?"

"Like Sundays."

"Is that your daughter yonder?"

"No, sir; she ain't my daughter yonder, nor nowhar' else."

"Is she a relative of yours?"

"No, sir; no kin."

"Kin to your wife, I suppose."

"No kin to my wife, but she's kin to my children."

"How do you make that out?"

"She's my wife."

"How far is it to the next house?"

"It is called three miles, but the man what calls it that is a liar."

"I've got enough," said the Judge, turning to the lawyer. "Drive on. I pity the man who depends on this man for information.—Arkansaw Traveler.

—A woman complained to the Williamsburg (N. Y.) police recently that after she and her daughter had worked hard gathering snow in bottles and setting the bottles in the sun, a neighbor had upset and broken the bottles. "There was not much harm done, was there?" inquired the Sergeant. "Yes, for not again in a year, and maybe not then, will I have the chance," the woman replied, "to get such a lot of sore-eye cure. You know, April snow-water is a sure cure, especially when the sun shines on it the same day."—N. Y. Graphic.

—Richard Laprise, of Lowell, Mass., sixty years old, is ill from the effects of teething. He was taken sick a few days ago and sent for a doctor, when it was discovered that four new upper front teeth were growing; the old ones left his service years ago.—Boston Post.

—An Indian boy, aged eighteen, a few weeks ago was admitted into the school for Indian youths at Carlisle, Pa., who had made his way half across the continent in search of an education. He had $2.75 on starting from his home. That brought him across the Mississippi River. Then walking four days together, and getting an occasional ride on a freight train, he made the rest of the long journey. He sold his Indian ornaments for bread and his blanket for a pair of shoes, his moccasins having worn out on his long tramp. At last he reached the Carlisle school, where he was properly cared for.—Chicago Times.

—The life of a small child is not a happy one in some of the Eastern cities. Not long since a Philadelphia woman went to her window, and shot at a party of little girls who annoyed her by playing on her sidewalk, killing one of them. In Brooklyn the father of a three-year-old boy has sued a neighbor for $5,000 damages, because that gentleman sallied out of his residence and attacked several children who were playing there. All ran away but the baby in question, and this the neighbor whipped severely with a cat-o'-nine tails, which he kept especially for children.—Chicago Tribune.

—Cleveland has an Enoch Arden case. The fond husband, a young artist, goes to Italy for six months' absence. Accident, brain fever, insanity, slow recovery and subsequent poverty on his part; distress at unexplained silence, search resulting in supposed knowledge of death on part of wife. All this followed by marriage of bereaved wife to former lover. Appearance of "Enoch" at last, who learns state of case, goes and looks in at window in approved poetical style, and then hies himself to remote village and commits suicide. Accidental discovery of facts by friends and consequent sorrow of wife, which, however, will doubtless be temporary.—Cleveland Leader.

Early Life in Arizona.

In an extremely interesting letter from Tucson a correspondent writes to the Boston Herald: At one time, I think it was about the outbreak of the civil war, the handful of Americans who were then in Southern Arizona held a meeting and resolved to declare themselves a free and independent State. They determined to hold themselves absolutely neutral between the North and South. They therefore called a meeting and elected a President, Vice-President and a Cabinet. They elected all the officers they could think of. They chose a Secretary of the Navy, while there was just about water enough in the whole Territory to float a duck, and they elected generals of the army until there was just one man left as a private. Everything was conducted on this scale. Out of 300 or 400 Americans in Southern Arizona, probably three-fourths were appointed to some office. This is a phase of early life in Arizona which I have never seen mentioned."

A Woman's Experience.

MRS. WILLIAM DOWNES, of Uxbridge, Mass., writes on March 15, 1883, as follows:

"During the past three years I have been a great sufferer from a complication of diseases which baffled the skill of the most experienced doctors, as I could not obtain permanent relief by their treatment and prescriptions; and I have also tried many so-called cures in the medicine line, but could get no relief. The pains, aches and weakness increased so rapidly and constantly that I was so reduced in strength as to be unable to leave the bed, and the doctors informed me that there was no hope of a recovery. In this exhausted and discouraged condition a dear friend persuaded me to use Hunt's Remedy, and after taking it only three days I commenced to get better, and to my great joy and delight I have continued to improve constantly by its use, until now, after having taken the remedy only a few weeks, I am able to be about my house again, and am now doing my house work. My lame back is cured, the severe pains have disappeared, and I am now in better health than for many years, and beg this privilege of gladly recommending Hunt's Remedy to all who are afflicted with any disease of the kidneys or liver; and I also highly recommend it for the allevation of sick headache. My husband also has experienced a very great benefit to his health by the use of this most valuable medicine, Hunt's Remedy."

"Our Flag is Still There."

MR. S. B. LONGFELLOW, Augusta, Me., of 81 side river, writes us under date of April 15, 1883:

"To whom it may concern: This may certify that two years ago I was very badly afflicted with kidney and urinary difficulties, which extended through the system and laid me up for weeks, so that I could do no work. I had the most skillful physicians in town, who gave me no assistance. Hearing of Hunt's Remedy, I got a bottle, and half of it cured me entirely, so that I have been well ever since. The other half I gave to a neighbor who was afflicted much as I was, and it restored him to health. I can truly say Hunt's Remedy has been of great and inexpressive worth to me."

OF THE

Medical and Surgical

INSTITUTE

Late Lecturer and Professor in one of the leading medical colleges in the United States, editor of the New York Medical and Surgical Journal, consulting physician and operative surgeon in the New York Hospital for Chronic Diseases, Physician in Chief of the Medical and Surgical Institute of Cedar Rapids.

ON ACCOUNT OF HIS

Immense Practice

IN

Janesville, Wis.,

WILL MAKE HIS NEXT VISIT AT THE

MYERS HOUSE,

Wednesday, August 29th.

And Remain Two Days

When he can be consulted on

Deformities, Spinal and Chronic Diseases.

Dr. Fishblatt

Has discovered the greatest cure in the world for weakness of the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, paleness of sight or giddiness, diseases of the throat, nose or skin, affections of the liver, lungs stomach, or bowels,—those terrible disorders arising from solitary practice more fatal to their victims than the songs of the sirens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible.

YOUNG MEN.

Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, who might, if otherwise, entrance listening senates with the thunder of their eloquence, or wake to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness (loss of procreative power, impotency,) nervous debility or any other disqualifications speedily relieved. He who places himself under the care of Dr. Fishblatt may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

Organic WEAKNESS.

Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This affliction—which renders life a burden and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victim of improper indulgence. Young persons are apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands this subject will deny that procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both mind and body arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nervous irritability, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, wasting of the frame, cough, consumption and death.

A Cure Warranted.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders who keep them trifling month after month, taking poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately.

Dr. Fishblatt

Graduated at one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at certain sounds, with frequent blushing attended somewhat with derangement of the mind, were cured immediately.

Particular Notice.

Dr. F. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruins both mind and body, unfitting them for business, study, society, marriage. These are some of the sad, melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, namely: Weakness in the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of musical power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the digestive functions, debility consumption, etc.

Briefiets.

—Regular meeting of the common council this evening.

—The circuit court has taken a recess until next Monday.

—The Janesville fireman returned home from Chicago at two o'clock this morning, all well pleased with the trip.

—Dr. Colcoff has rented the brick residence of Mrs. Hutson, on Court street, and will soon occupy the same as a residence and office.

—A resolution is now pending before the Rockford common council, authorizing the levying of a tax of $101,063.02 for various city purposes for the year 1883.

—The board of review met in the common council room this morning, for the purpose of reviewing the assessment roll. They will probably be in session all this week.

—We hear that Miss Hilt came near being drowned yesterday, by accidentally falling out of a boat near the railroad bridge. She was rescued just in time, as she had already gone under the second time.

—Mr. George D. Charlton has sold his fine black horse "Toby" to Mr. Wm. R. Selleck, of Chicago, receiving the handsome price of six hundred dollars. The sale was made through Mr. John Chapman, and the horse will be sent to Chicago this evening.

—The money order department of the Janesville postoffice paid ninety-six money orders during the past week, requiring the sum of $1,584,98; during the same time eighty-nine orders were issued calling for the sum of $923.32, the fees being $11; making a total business for the week of $2,519.20, against the sum of $2,513.65 for the previous week.

—The employes of the new cotton factory at Monterey, on Saturday evening, presented Mr. P. Ford with a handsome sum of money. It will be remembered that Mr. Ford met with an accident at the factory some days ago, by which he had several ribs broken, and has since been confined to his house. Hence this kind remembrance by his fellow workmen.

—On Saturday night marshal Hogan arrested four drunks and confined them in the county jail. This morning they were taken before Judge Patten—one of them proved to be Joe Skelly, of Beloit, an old offender; he was given forty days labor in the jail. Two others were fined $1 each and $3.20 costs, and the fourth was discharged.

—Large volumes of flame and smoke issued from a chimney on the residence of Mr. John Pitcher, Harmony street, second ward, at six o'clock last evening, caused a telephone to be sent to the fire department that the house was on fire. The boys in the houses hitched up, when a second message was sent stating that it was only a "chimney fire." A second more and there would have been a general clang of the bells.

—A young man by the name of John Parr, employed in the brick yard of this city, while bathing in the brick yard pit with a lot of his companions last Wednesday evening, was caught by cramps and drowned. The young man with his father and brother are working in the brick in this city. Their home is in Oregon Dane county, Wis. The remains were taken home for interment on the 9:21 train last Thursday morning.—Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter.

—The funeral of Charles W. Rubin will take place at the residence of Mr. John Boub, on River street, to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock. The services will be conducted by the Knights of Pythias, who will appear in fatigue caps and belts. Carryalls will be provided for the Knights who desire to attend the funeral. The members of the order are requested to meet at the lodge room to-morrow afternoon at half-past one o'clock sharp.

—Mr. Joseph Baker, of Stearns & Baker yesterday received a sad telegram from Chicago, announcing the death of his little neice, Kittie Maguire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Maguire. The remains will be brought to this city for interment on the 12:55 train from Chicago to-morrow, and will be taken direct from the depot to the Catholic cemetery. Kittie was an amiable girl, of about twelve years. The news of her death in the June-time of girlhood, will be sadly received by many friends in Janesville and Chicago; and the parents mourn the loss of a loved one, whose sweet memory will always cling around them.

Personal.

—Mr. Daniel Hawver and Mr. S. E. Gardner, of Monroe are in the city to-day.

—Mr. W. A. Lowell and wife, of Chicago, are in the city visiting parents and friends.

—Hamilton Richardson, Jr., is at home from Amherst college, to spend the summer vacation.

—Captain H. A. Smith, of Rockford, spent Sunday in this city, with his family and friends.

—Alderman Herman Buchholz and John Bauman have returned home from the Sangerfest at La Crosse.

—Messrs. Anson Rogers and James VanEtta will go to Oshkosh to-morrow, to attend the races in that city.

—Messrs. Valentine, Bump and Watson returned home to-day from the north where they have been trout fishing several days—they had good luck.

—Rev. A. J. Benjamin, of the First M. E. church of Beloit, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church yesterday, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. Mr. Brown.

—Dr. J. B. Whiting returned on Saturday from Put-in-Bay, on Lake Erie, where he went to rest and visit more than a week ago. The doctor has given his profession remarkably close attention for a number of years, and until the short vacation of last week, he had not been absent from his office a single day since 1876.

The Military Encampment.

The committee appointed to locate the encampment of the First Regiment, held a meeting in this city on Saturday afternoon. The members of the committee who participated in the meeting were Captain J. W. Greeley, of the Garfield Guards, Racine; Adjutant M. A. Newman and Lieutenant Thor Judd, of this city. After carefully considering the several propositions to locate the encampment in Janesville, Oconomowoc, Geneva Lake and Waukesha, the committee, in company with Colonel Britton, Captain LaGrange, and Lieutenants Bates and Doe, visited the grounds selected for such a camp near the residence of Dr. Judd. After this the committee again met in Dr. Newman's office and took a ballot on locating the camp. The ballot stood three for Janesville and one against. Captain Lewis, of Monroe, who is a member of the committee, but being unable to attend, sent a letter explaining his preference for Janesville. The encampment will therefore be located in this city, and will commence on Wednesday, August 8th and continuing until Monday the 13th, provided the sum of $500 is guaranteed the committee. There seems to be no doubt of this as the committee have already secured the pledge of $474, and other subscriptions have been pledged sufficient to meet the required amount.

The location of the camp in this city is therefore assured, and it will now become the duty of our people to see that the visiting soldiers are made cordially welcome in the Bower City during this camp.

The location of this camp will be of great benefit to the city in more ways than one. It will draw many people to the city to witness the maneuvers of the military in camp, thus keeping the city full of strangers during the entire week. The military camp will be a lively little city of itself. There were encamped at Racine last July, eight companies of this regiment; they were in camp six days, and the total attendance of members of the regiment was 1,730 men, which will not be any less this year.

We All Believe

That it is a long lane that has no turning; that many a shaft at random sent, finds a mark the archer little meant; that no remedy sold will cure coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and all throat and lung troubles so quickly nor permanently as Dr. Bigelow's Positive cure; that our druggists, Stearns & Baker are very generous to give trial bottles of the remedy free of charge.

Fourth of July.

The various committees appointed to arrange the details for the celebration on the Fourth of July, held a meeting in the common council chambers on Saturday evening. There was a good attendance, and the time was occupied in comparing notes and making the necessary appropriations to carry out the detailed plans. The committees were very enthusiastic and patriotic, and each determined to make the celebration a grand success. Captain Vankirk, chairman of the arrangement committee, will visit Chicago to-morrow, for the purpose of procuring fire works and other attractions, and will be home in time to report to an adjourned meeting of the committees at the council rooms on Wednesday evening, when all the arrangements will be completed.

The people may rest assured that we will have a good celebration.

A Bad Breath.

Is insufferable. We don't like it. A person with a strong breath must not make himself very familiar with us. An impure breath is caused by an unhealthy stomach. Burdock Blood Bitters will correct this evil. They are the best stomach medicine known.
Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Sherer & Co.

The Yokes Family.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week the celebrated Yokes family will give an entertainment at Myers opera house. It will be well for the city people to attend on Tuesday to avoid the rush on the evening of the fourth. As to what the Yokes are will be seen from the following from the New York Sun:

The Yokes were the pioneers of their style of light musical entertainments in America, and must be credited to-day, after having hosts of imitators within the past few years, with retaining their claim to being the best as well as the first in their line. Their entertainment derives its charm from the spontaneity which is its most prominent characteristic, as well as from its pure, clean, fresh, bright fun.

Looks Honest.

A clear, bright open face somehow looks honest. A horse thief or burglar seldom carries such a face. Burdock Blood Bitters give the skin a peculiarly fine texture and clearness. They strengthen and enrich the circulation and so eradicate all eruption or blemish.

Total cases, 7,150.

The Weather.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer registered 74 degrees above zero. Clear. Wind northwest. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 84 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with a fresh north wind. At seven o'clock this morning the register was 58 degrees above zero. Northeast wind and raining. At one p. m. the register was 66 degrees above zero. Cloudy with a north wind.

WASHINGTON, June 25, 1 a. m.—The following are the indications for to-day:

Upper Lake region—Cool and generally fair weather, northerly to easterly winds, higher barometer in the south and east portions.

Sudden Illness of Mr. Ashcraft.

This morning, shortly after Mr. W. H. Ashcraft had opened his furniture store on West Milwaukee street, and while at work straightening up some articles in the rear end of the store, he was suddenly seized with great pain in his chest. With great difficulty he reached the front of the store, and informed his son of his condition. He was put upon a lounge, and Dr. Henry Palmer was immediately called, when he found Mr. Ashcraft suffering from neuralgia of the heart. He was taken to his home. During the day there were many anxious inquiries as to his condition, and when the news came down town after twelve o'clock that he was much better, and that no real danger need be apprehended, his many friends, who take a deep interest in his welfare, were relieved of the fears they had entertained of his recovery from so sudden and severe an attack. It is now thought he will come out all right.

Lawrence University.

Rev. A. J. Meade, J. B. Carle, and Miss Kittie Carle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Carle, left this noon for Appleton, to attend the commencement exercises of the Lawrence university. Mrs. J. B. Carle will go to Appleton on Wednesday. Miss Jennie Carle, daughter of Mr. J. B. Carle, is a member of the graduating class in the university.

Saved the Baby.

"My baby, aged fifteen months, was attacked with croup, but was cured with two doses of Thomas' Electric Oil; have used this medicine for older children. Have the greatest faith in it." Mrs. Daniel Mann, 521 Seventh street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Tobacco Notes.

From the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter.

The first tobacco plants set out this season in Rock county, were on the Webb farm, in the town of Fulton, last Tuesday.—Review.

A larger proportion than ever of Spanish tobacco will be planted this season in the vicinity of Sun Prairie.

Wm. B. Atkinson, of Pleasant Springs, has commenced suit against A. Cohn & Co., tobacco dealers of Stoughton, for the recovery of several hundred dollars, which he claims is due him on his 1882 crop of tobacco.

A writer in the New England Homestead says: "Another reason why we think our growers must spare no effort to obtain the best quality of leaf, is the competition of Wisconsin Havana. We lately interviewed several cigar manufacturers in Boston and New York, who were of the opinion that Connecticut valley growers had more to fear from Wisconsin leaf than from Sumatra, especially since the increase of duty on the latter. The Wisconsin tobacco has a handsome color, and is coming into favor more every year. There were 60,000 cases of tobacco raised in Wisconsin in 1881, and upwards of 70,000 cases in 1882."

Here you have just about the size of it. Wisconsin leaf is bound to be one of the staple grades to be found in the markets of the world, if we only keep on improving our quality.

The Albany Journal contains the following well timed hints to the grower:

"We hope that each and every grower will do the very best they can this year in the growth of the leaf, endeavoring to make the '83 crop one of the best ever grown in the state. There has been actually more tobacco damaged the past year from the want of proper care and attention than would cost to build the sheds to store it properly. Many farmers are now fitting their ground for the crop. Be careful and set your plants well and reset them so all will grow. Many farmers are not careful enough in this matter, thereby losing a large amount of ground which should be utilized. Commence cultivating as soon after setting out the plants as possible so as not to let the weeds get the start of you—giving the entire strength of the ground to the tobacco and not to the weeds—bearing in mind that labor and strict attention to its growth will make the '83 crop better than ever grown."

Bunzl & Dornitzer finished their packing at this market this week having put in about 2000 cases all in good order.

One of the successful tobacco growers of Albion recently informed the Reporter that he had raised 16 consecutive crops of tobacco, and the lowest price he had received for any crop was 6 cents and the highest 26 cents per pound. As this farmer has accumulated quite a little competence aside from his farm property, it is safe to say that he found tobacco culture a profitable branch of farming.

Setting has already been commenced in a small way on a dozen or so farms in this vicinity. On Monday T. J. Atwood, Mabbett & Perry, Arthur Short and two or three other Albion farmers set about an acre each.

Most growers assert that, owing to the general delay in the season it is too early yet for setting plants; that the earlier setting is more liable to sun burn and shed burn than the latter setting. Havana plants may be set up to the 10th of July with safety.

What One Dose Did.

S. S. Graves, of Akron, N. Y., had Asthma of the worst kind. Took one dose of Thomas Electric Oil and was relieved in five minutes. He adds: "Would walk ten miles for this medicine and pay $5 a bottle for it. It cured my wife of rheumatism like magic."
Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Sherer & Co.

Notice

Having received the contract from the government for conveying the mail from Richmond to Janesville from July 1st 1883, to July 1st 1887. I shall commence the same on Monday, July 2, 1883, with a first class conveyance for the accommodation of passengers and such other business as the public may require. Satisfaction guaranteed. At prices to suit the times.

Daily Routine on the London Journals.

Soon after six in the evening the subeditors arrive, and begin work on the piles of manuscript and printed matter which await them there. The printer is pressing them for "copy," for his hands are waiting; but they must proceed cautiously, or they will choke space which will be sorely wanted later on. Now the reporters in Parliament and out of doors begin to send up their first manuscripts, and if these and those reports to which there is no option, do not suffice to keep the printers going, a column or two of literary reviews may be given to them, since these last, if found in excess when the paper is made up, can be held over.

By ten the editor and his assistants will be at their posts, and now a serious consultation is held, for the topics of the principal leaders must be decided on without delay. Such a choice has been deferred until the last possible moment, for good reason. Had it been made before, all the data which foreign and domestic telegrams, private notes from "whips," confidential intimations from political friends and the explorations of trusted social agents could yield, had been realized, it might be liable to reversal when all the arrangements based on it were in operation. As it is, the late delivery of a Blue book, the publication of an Extraordinary Gazette, or a telegram announcing that a favorite regiment has lost heavily in South Africa, will upset the operations of the editor's room just when such disturbance is most inconvenient. Sometimes those operations must commence before all the material necessary for them is at hand. An eminent statesman is speaking at Edinburgh, Liverpool or Manchester, and in London his speech is being delivered by the telegraph boys in instalments.

In such a case the leader-writer will be busy on the earlier part of the speech while the orator is constructing his later sentences. By 10:15 o'clock the leader-writers will have addressed themselves to their tasks, and before they have nearly finished their articles, the earliest paragraphs will have been handed to them in proof for correction. By about eleven the chief printer makes his appearance in the editor's room with his "statement," a schedule of the titles and length in columns of the articles he has received, showing the foreseen result that the paper is overcrowded. Proofs are now coming down very fast, and must be dealt with rapidly and returned. By half-past twelve the fourth page, that which is at a reader's left hand when he opens the paper out, must be closed up, locked in the iron frame, and sent to be stereotyped. The fifth page is the second to be sent to the foundry, and the inner pages are kept open longest. By about two the last paragraph is dropped into the last open column, and such as it had been made, with its merits and defects, the morning's paper must go before the world.—London Leisure Hour.
